In accordance with Fed. R. Civ. P. 7, amicus Immigration Reform Law Institute (“IRLI”) respectfully seeks this Court’s leave to file the accompanying amicus curiae brief in support of Defendants and in opposition to Plaintiffs’ Supplemental Brief in Support of their Motion for a Preliminary Injunction. (ECF 45). Counsel for amicus IRLI has conferred with counsel for all parties via email: Plaintiffs do not consent; Defendants consent. In furtherance of this motion, amicus IRLI states as follows:

1. IRLI is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) public interest law firm dedicated both to litigating immigration-related cases in the interests of United States citizens and to assisting courts in understanding federal immigration law. IRLI has litigated or filed amicus curiae briefs in a wide variety of immigration-related cases. For more than twenty years the Board of Immigration Appeals has solicited supplementary briefing, drafted by IRLI staff, from the Federation for American Immigration Reform, of which IRLI is a supporting organization.

2. “‘The extent, if any, to which an amicus curiae should be permitted to participate in a pending action is solely within the broad discretion of the district court.’” Sierra Club v. Fed. Emergency Mgmt. Agency, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 84230, at *2 (S.D. Tex. Nov. 14, 2007) (quoting Waste Mgmt. of Pa., Inc. v. City of York, 162 F.R.D. 34, 36 (M.D. Pa. 1995)). Unlike the corresponding appellate rules, the federal and local rules applicable here do not specifically address amicus briefs. Nonetheless, the appellate rules’ criteria for granting leave to file amicus briefs can be looked to to support IRLI’s motion. The Advisory Committee Note to the 1998 amendments to Rule 29 explains that “[t]he amended rule ... requires that the motion state the relevance of the matters asserted to the disposition of the case” as “ordinarily the most compelling reason for granting leave to file.” FED. R. APP. P. 29, Advisory Committee Notes, 1998 Amendment. As now-Justice Samuel Alito wrote while serving on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, “I think that our court would be well advised to grant motions for leave to file amicus briefs unless it is obvious that the proposed briefs do not meet Rule 29’s criteria as broadly interpreted. I believe that this is consistent with the predominant practice in the courts of appeals.” Neonatology Assocs., P.A. v. Comm’r, 293 F.3d 128, 133 (3d Cir. 2002) (citing Michael E. Tigar and Jane B. Tigar, FEDERAL APPEALS—JURISDICTION AND PRACTICE 181 (3d ed. 1999) and Robert L. Stern, APPELLATE PRACTICE IN THE UNITED STATES 306, 307-08 (2d ed. 1989)). Now-Justice Alito quoted the Tigar treatise favorably for the statement that “[e]ven when the other side refuses to consent to an amicus filing, most courts of appeals freely grant leave to file, provided the brief is timely and well-reasoned.” Id.

3. IRLI’s proffered brief will bring the following relevant matters to the Court’s attention:

- Under Supreme Court precedent, birthright citizenship depends on a person being born in the United States to a United States resident who, at that time, both had permission to be in the United States and who owed direct and immediate allegiance to the United States.
- The Executive Order “Protecting the Meaning and Value of American Citizenship” is consistent with Supreme Court precedent and the Citizenship Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment at least insofar as it applies to children born in the United States whose parents are either illegal aliens or temporary visitors, and is therefore constitutionally valid in numerous applications.
- For this reason, Plaintiffs are unable to succeed on the merits of their facial challenge to the Executive Order cannot, and their motion for injunctive relief should be denied.

5. Because these issues are relevant to this Court's decision on Plaintiffs' motion, IRLI's brief may aid the Court.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, leave to file an amicus curiae brief should be granted.

DATED: July 21, 2025

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Gabriel Canaan
